FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Cleveland based ALEGO HEALTH is first to partner with HIMSS for Global Center for Health Innovation space.

Local healthcare IT company ALEGO HEALTH is first organization to partner with HIMSS to utilize their space at the Global Center for Health Innovation in Cleveland, OH

CLEVELAND, May 28th, 2013- At the HIMSS Innovation Center, located on the fourth floor of the Global Center for Health Innovation, Alego Health's Jonathan Levoy, VP of Business Development & Technology announced that Alego Health would be a Founding Collaborator for the Healthcare Technology Showcase, which is part of the Innovation Center. HIMSS (Healthcare Information Management Systems Society), a national membership organization of over 52,000 healthcare information technology executives, announced its commitment to be part of the Global Center for Health Innovation in February 2013. The Global Center, which is the only facility in the world that displays the future of health and healthcare, is adjacent to the Cleveland Convention Center, a premier location that attracts healthcare providers year-round.

"As a Cleveland based organization we are very excited to be at the forefront of Healthcare IT Innovation and to be a part of this exciting space that HIMSS is creating" says Jonathan Levoy, VP of Business Development & Technology, Alego Health and the Chair of the mHIMSS Digital Media Taskforce. "We are the only Diamond Member of the HIMSS Corporate Membership in Ohio and with the Global Center for Health Innovation in the backyard of our National Headquarters we wanted to be a big supporter of what HIMSS and the Innovation Center will bring to national healthcare IT innovation and the City of Cleveland"

As the founding collaborator, Alego Health will host and present events at the Innovation Center and online, with HIMSS and its provider communities. In addition, Alego will present its technologies solutions in the HIMSS Technology Showcase. "We are delighted to partner with Alego Health as the first Founding Collaborator of the HIMSS Innovation Center. It is exciting to see a local enterprise moving the industry forward across the globe, starting right here in Cleveland." says Sandy Vance, Sr. Director of the Interoperability Initiative.

Mr. Levoy also explained that the HIMSS Innovation Center is a great showcase for Alego to present its services through interactive demonstrations in its space. "HIMSS has been a great partner since our relationship inception and we have seen the great things that they have done to increase the knowledge base of Healthcare Facilities across the country. We are committed to the same things and look forward to using this platform that HIMSS has provided to showcase our services."
